LUMBERTON WINS DEBATES

High School Debaters of Lumberton Defeat Sanford and Laurinburg in Contest Friday Night—Will Go to Chapel Hill in Second Battle for Aycock Memorial Cup—Debaters Did Well.

In the contests held throughout the State Friday night of the North Carolina Debaters Union, of which 150 schools in the State are members, the Lumberton graded school is among the successful and the Lumberton boys will have the honor of going to Chapel Hill April 3rd to battle for a place in the final fight for the Aycock Memorial Cup. The Lumberton school last year was successful in the first battle of the memorial cup war, but lost in the second battle fought at the University. The boys this time say that they feel sure they will be in the third battle. The 150 schools in the union are divided into groups of three schools each and this annual memorial-cup contest consists of three battles. The first is fought in the group and the schools among the groups that win both the affirmative and negative of the question debated go to the University to fight the second battle and the two schools that win there will fight the third battle, which also is fought at the University.

The Lumberton graded school is grouped with Sanford and Laurinburg schools. Lumberton's affirmative team, consisting of Rufus Sanderson and Earl Townsend, stayed at home and argued the question for debate with Sanford's negative team, composed of Graham Dimmick and Julian McIver. Ertle Carlyle and John Proctor, Lumberton's negative team, went to Laurinburg, and, as stated above, both of the Lumberton teams were successful. Friday evening at the graded school auditorium was certainly an entertainment worth while. The principal feature of the occasion was the debate, but that wasn't all by any means. The following was the programme:

Song—America.
Vocal solo—I Love You—Carl Sobeski—Mr. Shepherd Nash.

Remarks—Introduction by president, Mr. R. Shelby Lewis.

Debate. "Query: Resolved, That the Constitution of North Carolina Should be so Amended as to Allow the Initiative and Referendum in State-wide Legislation."

Instrumental duet—Anvil Trovatore (Verdi)—Arr. H. Englemann—Misses Mary Lee Caldwell and Margaret Pope.

Vocal Solo—Sing On—Denza—Miss Lucile Jones.

Report of Judges.

Messrs. E. M. Johnson, V. B. McMillan and M. N. Folger were the judges. Mr. Preston Cashwell acted as secretary to President Shelby. At the conclusion of the exercises the votes of the judges were passed to Mr. Shelby, who announced the result.

Ever since the early days of the old Robeson Institute the Lumberton school has had debating societies and often had excellent public debates, but the debating Friday evening was as good as any the town's school in the past has ever been able to boast. Those who were present Friday evening looking for good sound argument on the affirmative of a live subject found Sanderson and Townsend with the goods. Those boys were right there with the stuff and they knew how to hand it out with telling effect but they had no walk-over, for Sanford's representatives came to Lumberton prepared to fight. They were equally as well equipped for the debate as the Lumberton boys, but they could handle so well their arms of war. That's what won the victory—Lumberton's delivery.

The first speaker called was Rufus Sanderson. He broke the ice. Graham Dimmick, Sanford's ice breaker, was the next speaker called. He was cool and deliberate in what he did and had good argument. The president asked the secretary to call the next speaker. The secretary did as commanded and Earl Townsend, the second son of Mrs. Fannie Townsend, rose and with as much ease and as deliberately as one goes about the ordinary duties of life he walked to a table on the center of the stage and from a pitcher of water he filled a glass and settled all the dust along his avenue of speech. He addressed the audience and measuring about six feet in the air, a white carnation in the left lapel of his coat and a lead pencil tightly lodged behind his right ear, he began pitching out strong points of argument with as much precision as ever Abraham Lincoln with his maul struck the wedge in the days of his rail-splitting. Earl did fine and he surprised many who know him best. Julian McIver was the last speaker. He was the youngest of the boys and was the only one who wore trousers half way, but the short breeches were no evidence that anything else about that boy is short. It is true that he unbentoned and buttoned his coat several times during his speech, but his hands attended to that while he looked well after his duties as a representative of the Sanford school in this contest. The boys each had a five-minute rejoinder and in this they all did well.

All four of the boys from the beginning to the ending of this contest did fine and reflected much credit on the schools they represent. Immediately after the exercises the debaters, school faculty and a few others were given a reception in the library room by the girls' literary society. Delicious refreshments were served and it was indeed a pleasant time. While here the representatives of the Sanford school were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Biggs. Miss Hassie Lou Ponder, formerly a member of the faculty here, is now one of the high school teachers in the Sanford school and she came with the Sanford boys. While here she was a guest of Miss Ethel Williams. She returned last evening to Sanford. Dimmick and McIver returned Saturday evening. Miss Ponder was for two years a member of the faculty here and she has a host of friends that were glad to see her in Lumberton again.

It is said that Ertle Carlyle and John Proctor, the boys who went to Laurinburg, did some excellent speaking, but they, same as the boys here, had no walk-over. They spoke against against girls. Messrs. Thomas L. Johnson, J. J. Goodwin, Eli Wishart and Furman Biggs went to Laurinburg with Carlyle and Proctor, and the Lumberton boys say that they were treated royally by the Laurinburg folks.

The Lumberton school certainly is proud of its victory, but among all those that constitute the membership of the school and faculty there was hardly one that evidenced any more real joy than did Supt. R. E. Sentelle. He is proud of his boys.

The musical part of the programme at the auditorium Friday evening was fine and reflects much credit on the work Miss Glasgow is doing in the school. Every number was well rendered. Miss Lucile Jones had the last number on the programme and she was encored until she had to come back and her second number was even better than the first.

There seems to be some lack of interest in Lumberton on the part of the patrons of the graded school. The auditorium Friday evening was just about half full, possibly a little better. It is said that the school auditorium at Laurinburg was packed and the same thing was so at Sanford. Do patrons of other schools realize more than Lumberton folks the real value of the little folks?

And the Lumberton graded school debaters will again have the honor of going to the University of the State to try for the Aycock Memorial cup. May they win.

DROPPED DEAD IN DRUG STORE

Capt. J. M. Turner of Raleigh Fell Dead in Maxton Saturday Night—Well Known Here.

Maxton Dispatch, 21st.

Tonight at 8:30, while a group of men were in Barnes Bros. drug store, talking, Capt. J. M. Turner, of Raleigh, exsuperintendent of this division of the Seaboard Air Line, suddenly dropped dead. Dr. L. R. Kirkpatrick was present and immediately attended the fallen man, but death had been instantaneous, apoplexy being the cause.

Capt. Turner was about 55 years old and had been here since Thursday, investigating a railroad proposition. He was a guest of Mr. A. J. McKinnon, and ate a hearty supper, coming on up street afterwards.

Arrangements have been made for taking his body to Raleigh on Seaboard train No. 19, in the morning. He is survived by his wife, who is now in Raleigh.

Capt. Turner was well known and well liked in Lumberton. He was receiver for the Raleigh & Charleston for some time and made his headquarters here during this time.

Church Services.

Rev. S. E. Mercer, president of Carolina College, Maxton, preached excellent sermons at Chestnut Street Methodist church yesterday, morning and evening. He came to relieve the pastor, Rev. Dr. W. B. North, who has been suffering with his throat for some time and was unable to preach. It is hoped that Dr. North's condition will be sufficiently improved for him to fill his appointments next Sunday.

Mr. J. A. Brown of Chadbourne, president of the North Carolina State Sunday School Association, delivered an address on Sunday school work yesterday morning before the Presbyterian Sunday school and before the North Lumberton Union Sunday school, at the Jennings Cotton Mills yesterday afternoon. Mr. Brown is an enthusiastic Sunday school worker and a good talker, and both addresses were interesting and helpful.

At the First Baptist Sunday school yesterday morning Rev. C. H. Durham, pastor of the church, Mr. R. D. Caldwell, superintendent of the school, and Mr. S. McIntyre made interesting talks, giving the impressions made upon them by the great Baptist laymen's meeting in Durham last week, which meeting they attended.

Episcopal Services Tomorrow Night. Rev. T. P. Noe, an Episcopal minister of Wilmington, will conduct services tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at the residence of Mr. J. Q. Beckwith, Tenth street. The public is cordially invited.

BAPTIST LAYMEN'S CONVENTION.

Resolutions Adopted Opposing Delivery of Liquor Inside State—Many Adopt Tithing as Minimum Standard of Giving—Large Crowds Attended Convention in Durham Last Week.

Large crowds from all over North Carolina attended the Baptist laymen's convention held in Durham 3 days last week—Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Addresses were made by many eminent Baptists.

Following an address Thursday by Prof. J. T. Henderson, Bristol, Va., on "Tithing as the Minimum Standard of Giving," 144 men stood up when a call was made for those who would adopt a tenth of their income as a minimum standard for giving. A hundred of the delegates to the convention responded to the query as to how many were already giving a tenth of their incomes.

W. H. Weatherspoon of Laurinburg presided at the afternoon session Thursday and spoke of the "Laymen and the prayermeeting." At one of the sessions Wednesday, when the method of working out the problem of getting men to give for missions was discussed, Mr. R. D. Caldwell of Lumberton spoke of the "every-member canvass" and gave interesting experiences of the result of this method.

Governor Locke Craig was one of the speakers at the Wednesday night session. He declared that President Wilson's Mexican policy is the policy of a great Christian statesman. While the Church and State are separated, all laws and all policies should embody the spirit of Christ, else it would be impossible to have any justice in government. Three influences, according to the Governor go to make a man good or bad. These are heredity, will power and environment. It is impossible to change the heredity or will power of most people, but it is and can be made a function of the government to change the bad environment of some people.

The Governor approved the interest of the preachers and church people as well as Christian organizations were taking in governmental politics. The fact that a man preaches twice a week does not and should not prevent him being a citizen, interested in upholding the law seven days in the week.

The convention Wednesday unanimously adopted the following resolution, offered by John A. Oates of Fayetteville:

"Whereas, We believe that the total abstinence from the use of intoxicating liquors is best for the individual and for prosperity; and

"Whereas, The Baptist State convention and other church gatherings last fall memorialized the general assembly of 1913 to pass an act to prohibit the delivery of whiskey for beverage purposes in our State; and

"Whereas, The Anti-Saloon League following up the action of the various churches through its executive committee has memorialized the next General Assembly to pass such a law.

"Therefore, be it resolved by the North Carolina Baptist laymen's convention, held in Durham, March 17-19, 1914, that we approve of the proposed legislation necessary to the proper enforcement of the laws we now have."

Rev. R. L. Davis, secretary of the North Carolina Anti-Saloon League, addressed the convention and urged that every man see to it that when they nominated and elected members of the next legislature that these men be in favor of a law prohibiting the shipment of whiskey for beverage into the State. In this North Carolina would be following in the footsteps of Mississippi.

A SURPRISE MARRIAGE.

Miss Lizzie Hamilton of Marietta and Mr. Grover Britt Married Friday Night.

A marriage which came as a surprise to many friends of the contracting parties occurred Friday night at 9:30 o'clock at the Baptist parsonage at East Lumberton, when and where Miss Lizzie Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hamilton of Marietta, became the bride of Mr. Grover Britt, local reporter and business manager of The Robesonian. The groom is known far and wide as "Happy Jack." The bride has been teaching at Smith's, Howellville township, her school closing Friday. The ceremony was performed by Rev. M. A. Stephens, pastor of the groom. The young couple have the best wishes of a host of friends. They went Saturday to Marietta and expect to return to Lumberton tomorrow or next day.

New Residences.

Mr. T. A. McNeill, Jr., will begin next month the erection of a 2-story 9-room residence, English cottage type, on the corner of Chestnut and Ninth streets, on the lot in rear of the residence of his father, ex-Judge T. A. McNeill. The residence will front on Chestnut.

Mr. F. J. Thomas will begin next month the erection of a 2-story 7-room residence on his lot near the river—"Riverside boulevard," sometime, maybe—northwestern part of town.

Architect J. M. Russell of Lumberton drew the plans for both these residences, which will be modern in every respect, with all modern conveniences. It is worth while to note that one does not have to leave town to secure the services of an architect. Mr. H. C. Jones, a local contractor, has the contract for building both houses.

Mr. Russell's services are in demand away from home. He drew the plans recently for a handsome residence which Mr. J. R. Gordon is going to build at Hamlet.

District Office to be Located Here.

The district office of the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Co., the home office of which is in Greensboro, will be moved this week from Fayetteville to Lumberton. It is understood that temporary offices will be occupied in the opera house building. Mr. J. W. Currie is manager and will move his family from Fayetteville to Lumberton. The company will find that it has made no mistake in locating a district office here, and Lumberton is glad to welcome it.

Master Carlyle Bethea, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bethea, who live on Cedar street, had the misfortune Friday morning of getting right badly burned, though not seriously. He was building the morning fire when he carelessly threw a burning match on the floor just behind himself. From the match his clothing caught. Carlyle called for help and had it not been for quick work on the part of Mr. Bethea the boy would have been seriously burned. Carlyle's condition today is as good as could be expected. Mrs. Bethea says she thinks he will be able in two or three more days to go back to school.

DEATH OF MRS. L. B. TOWNSEND.

End Came Suddenly Friday Night—Funeral Yesterday Afternoon From Methodist Church Attended by Large Crowd—Floral Offerings Beautiful—A Lovely Character Who Was Widely Loved.

The funeral of Mrs. May Moore Townsend, wife of Mr. L. B. Townsend, whose death occurred at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening at their home on Third street, took place yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from Chestnut Street Methodist church, of which deceased was a member. Despite the fact that the weather was extremely inclement, a large crowd filled the main auditorium of the church and overflowed into the Sunday school room attended funeral, bearing sorrowful testimony to how wide and deep an impression the deceased had made upon this community by her sweet and gentle life.

On account of the illness of the pastor of the church, Rev. Dr. W. B. North, the funeral was conducted by Rev. S. E. Mercer, president of Carolina College, Maxton, assisted by Rev. C. H. Durham, pastor of the First Baptist church. The songs used were "Asleep in Jesus," by the choir; "I Know a Place Where We Shall Rest," by a male quartet—Messrs. R. R. Carlyle, W. Lennon, C. B. Skipper and J. P. Stephens; and "Abide With Me," by the choir. On account of the weather the services were concluded in the church.

Interment was made at Meadowbrook cemetery. The casket was pure white, and the floral offerings were unusually numerous and beautiful, entirely covering the new-made grave of her mother and the week-old grave of her infant that was born a week died two days later and was buried just a week ago yesterday.

The crowd at the grave was dismissed with a tenderly beautiful prayer by Rev. Mr. Durham.

The pallbearers were Messrs. W. O. Thompson, L. R. Varner, Alf. H. McLeod, H. M. McAllister, L. C. Townsend, R. H. Crichton.

Mrs. Townsend's death occurred suddenly Friday night at 7:30 o'clock and was due to eclampsia. For two or three days following the birth of a baby on the 13th, just a week before her death, Mrs. Townsend's condition was serious, but it was thought that she was improving until a short time before her death.

The maiden name of the deceased was May Casandra Moore. She was born at Warsaw, Duplin county, January 14, 1883, and was 31 years old. For six or seven years prior to her marriage in October, 1912, she was stenographer in the law offices of Mr. A. W. McLean and his present and former partners.

Mrs. Townsend was a young woman of such lovely Christian character, of such sweet and gentle disposition, that she won the profoundest respect and sincere regard of all with whom she came in contact. It is rare indeed that any one is so universally and so sincerely loved. Her death was peculiarly sad. Heartfelt sympathy goes out to the young husband who just a short week ago buried his infant daughter.

Deceased is survived by one sister, Miss Elizabeth Moore of Warsaw, and five brothers—Messrs. B. C. and J. M. Moore and Dr. Wm. Houston Moore of Wilmington, and Messrs. Chas. D. and Thomas M. Moore of Valdosta, Ga. All except last named, who could not come, were here to attend the funeral. Others from out of town who attended the funeral were Dr. Moore's wife, Mrs. S. E. Johnson, Mrs. Claude Murray, Miss Sallie Bowden and Miss Lillian Fontaine, all of Wilmington; Mrs. A. B. Banes and Miss Sallie Hill of Warsaw; and Mr. Davis Powell of Rocky Mount.

Death of Mrs. Mallie McNair of Raeford.

Raeford Dispatch, 19th.

Mrs. Mallie McNair died Monday in the hospital in Laurinburg. She was carried to the hospital for an operation and was apparently doing well until Monday, when another operation was necessary. She failed to rally from the last operation.

Before her marriage she was Miss Marie Currie, daughter of Mrs. Currie, who lives at Maxton. Two brothers, and three sisters and her mother survive. She would have been 22 years old on the 28th day of this month, and had been married about a year and a half. She was a member of the Raeford Presbyterian church. Interment took place Tuesday at Bethel church, the funeral being conducted by Rev. W. C. Brown, of this city.
